Partnering with Consumers in Research SAHMRI Consumer and Community Engagement Co-research Policy

1. Introduction

1.1 Purpose

To support co-research practices that reflect the Framework and requires all consumer partnerships to be respectful and operate for mutual benefit.

1.2 Rationale

The SAHMRI Consumer Reimbursement Policy (POL 0039) which is consistent with the SA government policy on consumer sitting fees/cost reimbursement, provides the baseline for reimbursing consumer members of SAHMRI committees and working groups.

Research grant schemes – and project development phases – cannot always access funding for consumer reimbursement. The Committee does not want lack of funding to create a barrier to building consumer engagement.

1.3 Policy Statement

All SAHMRI co-research partnerships with consumers will be respectful; reflect the Framework; and operate for mutual benefit.

3 Responsibilities

Responsibilities of the Consumer and Community Partnership Committee are detailed in the Committee Terms of Reference (DOC0086).

4 Policy Guidelines

Mutual benefit may take the form of formal partnerships, education, opportunities and/or recognition. This means that:

Consumers partnering with SAHMRI:

- Are aware of, understand and support the nature, purpose and anticipated impact of the activity in which they engage
- Agree on the contribution they will make, and where this sits on the spectrum of public participation and hence what they can expect as a result of their participation
- Are reimbursed for their time and other costs, in accordance with SAHMRI Consumer Reimbursement Policy (POL 0039)

SAHMRI staff:

- Incorporate reimbursement and other consumer benefits into all aspects of coresearch
- Advocate for systemic change to ensure consumer reimbursement and other benefits are integral to research grant program policy and practice.
